

■ Contract development of optical systems

Hello everyone. This time, we would like to introduce the contract development of optical systems.

■ Optical system design / simulation

At Luceo, we design and manufacture various optical sensor / systems and lens units by making use of the know-how we have cultivated through the development and manufacture of optical filters. The optical systems and technologies that we are good at are as follows.

■ Request for quotation

Luceo is particularly good at providing relatively small products volume such as from 50 to 200 units per lot. If you have a request for small volume production of optical equipment, please do not hesitate to contact us.

If you have any inquiries such as request for quotation with a product and volume, please feel free to contact us.

The Luceo has a showroom in headquarters, you can view optical systems, lenses, optical units combined with each other and inspection instruments when our office opens. If you are interested in them, please feel free to contact us.
